

the lesbian & gay
Big Apple Corps
symphonic band
Bryan P. Worsdale, artistic director
Nolan Dresden, assistant conductor

* MEDIA ALERT ****

The Lesbian & Gay Big Apple Corps Symphonic Band presents
Come Follow the Band!

When: Saturday, December 4, 2010 at 8 p.m.

Where: Peter Norton Symphony Space
2537 Broadway at 95th Street
New York, NY 10025

Tickets: $17-$25 - Online: www.lgbac.org or Telephone: 212.864.5400

What: Come Follow the Band! is a collection of masterworks that will provide audiences with an understanding of how the sounds of rock 'n' roll made famous by The Beatles and Earth, Wind & Fire evolved from earlier periods of music. This program will also highlight some of the milestone works for symphonic band, as well as audience favorites from Broadway. The band also plans to honor Pulitzer Prize- and Academy Award-winning Composer John Corigliano during this concert with the Lesbian & Gay Big Apple Corps Profile in Leadership Award. Each year, the band gives this award to honor exemplary contributions to both the music and the lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender communities.

About: Founded in 1979, the Lesbian & Gay Big Apple Corps (LGBAC) is the premier Marching and Symphonic Band for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) musicians and their friends within the New York City metropolitan area. As one of the first gay bands in the world, the LGBAC is celebrated for a tradition of musical excellence that promotes equality and social acceptance. The Lesbian & Gay Big Apple Corps is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. For additional information or to join the band, visit www.lgbac.org.

Contact: Andrew Favreau
212.591.2886
press@lgbac.org

###